Wises Track

This isn't a particularly special walk, but is a nice way to see different heath environments. The walk follows an old road which has now been turned into a service trail. There are many wildflowers and banksia along this walk, providing great flower displays in the warmer months of the year.

Int. Sir Bertram Stevens Drive and Wises Trk Gate South to Int. Wises Trk and Karani Trk 1.3km 20 mins

(From S) From the southernmost 'Wises Track' sign on Sir Bertram Stevens Drive (sign to the left of the gate)(NOTE:this sign has been reported as missing by another walker), this walk heads away from the road and around the gate. The trail passes through the low heath to turn right after approximately 30m. After a short time more, the walk reaches a rocky outcrop (on the left) where it turns right, heading down the hill. The trail descends for some time to a clearing on the right, after which the trail heads steeply downhill, turning left. At the bottom of the rocky hill, the walk continues to the unsignposted intersection.

Int. Wises Trk and Karani Trk to Int. Sir Bertram Stevens Drive and Wises Trk Gate North 2.8km 45 mins

(From 1.33 km) Veer right: From the intersection, this walk heads past a rocky outcrop (above on the left) as the trail heads downhill. The trail winds and undulates for approximately 2km along the ridge before coming to a grassy intersection.

Continue straight: From the intersection, this walk heads north, following the clearest trail for approximately 500m. The walk continues among banksia bushes and short eucalypts along the sandy trail, coming to an intersection with an overgrown trail on the left.

Veer right: From the intersection, the walk heads away from the fork in the track, along the defined trail. The trail soon passes the gate and 'Wises Track' sign, coming to Sir Bertram Stevens Drive.
