

Willunga Trig Walk

40 mins

Moderate track

3

1.4 km Return

↑ 62m

On this walk you will visit the highest point in Ku-ring-gai Chase National Park. At the top of the hill is an old trig point and some stunning panoramic view. On a clear day, there is an uninterrupted 180-degree view across large parts of the park, including Pittwater to the east and distant glimpses of Sydney city on the horizon, far to the south.

228m

Ku-ring-gai Chase National Park

Are you ready to have fun?

Please ensure you and your group are well prepared and equipped for all possible hazards and delays. Check park closures, weather information and Fire Danger Rating before setting out. Optional side trips and alternate routes noted are not included in this walks overall grade, length or time estimate. Please allow extra time for resting and exploring areas of interest. The authors, staff and owners of wildwalks take care in preparing this information but will not accept responsibility for any inconvenience, loss or injury you may experience. Please take care, have fun - Happy Walking.

Getting there Traveling by car is the only practical way to get to Int of West Head Rd and Willunga track (gps: -33.6184, 151.2642). Car: A park entry fee is required for driving into the park.

This is a return, so you will finish back at the start.

Find up to date and more information including; travel directions, weather, park closures and walker feedback at <http://wild.tl/wiljt>

0 | Int of West Head Rd and Willunga track

(700 m 16 mins) From West Head Rd, at the 'Willunga Track' signpost (~4.8km north from the intersection with 'General San Martin Dr'), the walk heads around the gate past the 'Willunga Track' information sign and follows the overgrown management trail. After a while the track climbs more steeply and narrows to arrive at the top of the hill at the old Willunga trig point, on an unfenced rocky outcrop.

0.7 | Willunga trig view

The Willunga trig view is at the end of the Willunga Track, off West Head Rd in the Ku-ring-gai Chase National Park. This viewpoint is an informal, unfenced lookout from a rock outcrop. You get a fantastic 180degree panoramic view over the national park, including views of the ocean and Pittwater to the east and distant glimpses of the city to the south. This is the highest point in Ku-ring-gai Chase National Park.

